Elba man charged with chemical endangerment of a child following arrest by Elba Police officers

An Elba man is in jail facing chemical endangerment of a child charges after being arrested Thursday, April 6, by Elba Police.

According to Alabama Code, a suspect can be charged with chemical endangerment of a child if a child is believed to be exposed to an environment in which controlled substances are produced or distributed. The charge is considered a 'Class C' felony.

John Wilkerson III, age 33, of Elba was booked into the Coffee County Jail at 6:23 p.m. last Thursday on one count of chemical endangerment of a child. His bond was set at $15,000, and he remained in jail as of press time this week.

Two Elba women were arrested last Saturday on drug-related charges. They were Katie Thacker, age 48, of Elba, and Jessica Warren, age 38, of Elba. Jail reports indicate that Elba Police arrested Thacker early Saturday morning, April 8, as she was booked into the county jail at 4:08 a.m. Her charges included possession of a controlled substance [$5,000 bond], possession of marijuana - 2nd degree [$3,000 bond], and misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia [$1,500 bond]. Thacker also was charged with harassment. She was released on bond at 8:15 p.m. Saturday night. Warren was booked into the Coffee County Jail at 1:32 a.m. Saturday morning, April 8, following her arrest by deputies with the Coffee County Sheriff's Office. Her charges included possession of a controlled substance [$5,000 bond] and misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia [$1,500 bond]. She was released on bond at 7:45 p.m. last Saturday night.

Press release from solar power company seemingly announces plans to locate in Elba, but local officials say press release includes some inaccuracies

Another business reportedly is looking to invest heavily in industrial development in Elba and while local officials are keeping things close to the vest, as is customary, a news release issued last week - reported to be from the company - is announcing the deal in Elba is virtually done. However, that may not be entirely accurate.

The holding company has formed a subsidiary, "Elba Power Corp" and last week's news release indicates Elba Power Corp had "executed its contract to purchase the $2.95 million property in Elba, AL...". The plant, if it becomes a reality, would be a solar manufacturing plant.

"This will allow us to expand and grow our vision to build a 1.20 W solar products manufacturing and clean power generating plant," CEO Nicholas Campanella is quoted in the recent news release on <GlobeNewswire.com>.

In response to that new release, the Wiregrass Economic Development Corporation and City of Elba have issued statements indicating the company has "issued a press release that unfortunately has significant errors in it."

The news release indicates the state has approved an inducement resolution for $50 million dollars and a 100% tax abatement of sales and use tax that will save the company millions. However, Wiregrass Economic Development officials estimate the proposed tax abatement would be worth "$434,700, not millions of dollars." That value is based on an investment in the project of $19,100,000.

Also, the State of Alabama has apparently made no "inducement resolution" at this time, at least not formally.

Both the City of Elba and Wiregrass Economic Development are working closely with state officials to make this project work. Comments from both the City and Wiregrass indicate they remain eager to work with Elba Power officials to make a significant investment in Elba and appreciate the continued interest in the Elba community and will do all within their power to help make the venture a huge success.

Elba Public Library to host April 17th meeting for new mural project ideas

The Elba Public Library, in partnership with the Auburn University Department of Art & Art History, the Caroline Marshall Draughon Center for the Arts & Humanities, and Restoration 154, will host a planning meeting Monday, April 17, for a new mural project. The meeting will be from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Elba Public Library, located at 406 Simmons St. in downtown Elba.

The new mural, measuring 16 x 7 feet, will be drawn by Professor Wendy Deschene this summer and painted during the fall semester by undergraduate art students at Auburn University. The community is invited to attend the meeting and participate in the planning process. The mural will be located in the library's meeting room.

During the meeting, attendees will have the opportunity to discuss the project and share ideas for what the mural should convey for the city of Elba. Participants are encouraged to consider themes, historic figures or events, symbols, colors, images, and stories they want to be featured in the mural. Images from archives or personal collections are also welcome.

To view murals from past projects, visit <https://www.wendydeschene.ca/murals>.

For more information about the meeting or the mural project, contact the Elba Public Library at 334-897-6921.

"To steal ideas from one person is plagiarism; to steal from many is research." — Steven Wright

We experienced another birthday last week. With social media joining the phone call folks and those who stopped us on the streets, or in two cases, knocked on the door at home to wish us a Happy Birthday, we had an alarming number of well wishers. Our original goal was to respond to each and every one with a personal "customized" thank you, but with the awesome number of folks with either genuine happiness or amazement that after 85 years we are still ticking, it was soon obvious that it was an impossible task. The social media folks had our phone dingling before daylight that Tuesday morning and those dings were still dropping in on into the weekend. Those of you who reached out with anything from a "HB" to wordy strings of flattering words, we offer our humble thanks. It was much more than we ever expected — or deserved.

A news bulletin Tuesday of this week revealed the political battles in Washington D. C. between the two major political parties is far from over. Lawsuits were filed this week against the Republicans (either the party or elected officials) — we are not sure which — for interfering with the investigations involving former President Donald Trump.

Easter Sunday was not a sunshiny day in South Alabama. The rains destroyed the plans for long anticipated Easter Egg Hunts by thousands of children (and more than a few adults who enjoy watching the excited children find the often not-so-well-hidden eggs). Some church groups put out the word that they have a thousands of eggs and urged people to come by and get them "just drive by and we will hand you a batch of eggs." Others are trying to figure out a way to still hold the egg hunts. We are on the side of this latter group!

Our quote for this week deals with writers and plagiarism. Having just finished a great book on Abe Lincoln, we look at that quote and at the references at the back of this book on where a particular quote came from. That must mean that our writer didn't plagiarize because he gave proper credit to the original writers! That book took lots of research and we respect the writer's efforts to be accurate by documenting exactly where a certain quote or incident was first reported. However we didn't read a single one of his footnotes. He is highly respected and we trusted him and just accepted his writing as the gospel.

Elba officials are working with another firm interested in investing big money in the local economy. However, recent news releases from somewhere have — well — exaggerated the progress being made. In other words some of the statements in the release appear to be misleading, either on purpose or accidentally. Anyway we hope this industry or the next interested group is successful in putting together a package with Elba officials that will "fly" with the money lenders and investors.

Be safe, wear your mask when appropriate, social distance, wash your hands AND get the shot(s) and/or boosters (the newest one)!

Bereaved Spouses Awareness Month

Losing a loved one is never easy but losing a spouse or life partner can be especially painful. April is Bereaved Spouses Month and in the spirit of the month, here are a few tips for supporting those who have lost a life partner or for those who have recently lost a spouse or life partner.

Do your best to be supportive to a friend or relative who recently lost a spouse: losing someone is always difficult but losing a life partner can be alienating and emotionally crippling at any age. Offer to bring over a meal or to simply offer your time and company. Respect that sometimes after a recent loss, some do not want company. Remember that spending time with someone doesn't always mean spending physical time together; sometimes a phone call or short text message is enough.

Consider taking a useful class together. Many times, after a spouse dies, there are gaps left in their loved one's life. Things like learning to cook for one or learning to cook at all, balancing checkbooks or simple housework can sometimes be bewildering to the recently bereaved. Taking a class on these topics can provide much needed social opportunities for the recently bereaved while also providing much needed life skills.

Encourage a hobby that can be done with friends or alone. These hobbies can be anything from painting to gardening or photography. Trying new things can help ease some of the pain of grief for some and learning a new skill can help the transition into a new potentially more independent phase of one's life.

Helping those that have lost a loved one or spouse can be a rewarding aspect of supporting someone's grief journey. This Bereaved Spouses Month, keep your heart open, your time flexible and your mind compassionate.

Timber!

My dad always loved his yard. He took great pride in having what he considered to be one of the best looking yards in the neighborhood. Actually, he came by it honestly; my grandfather had quite the green thumb and enjoyed yard work greatly. My grandfather used words like "mulch" and "aerate" when he talked about his yard and his eyes would light up. My dad had been groomed to be an expert in the area of lawn maintenance and he definitely had not been a disappointment.

Dad spent many hours in the yard on Saturdays and on days off. There was grass to be cut, raked, fertilized, and/or watered. Shrubs had to be trimmed and azaleas had to be trenced around. Then there were things like herbicide and insecticide, which did God only knows what to weeds and bugs, that had to be spread or sprayed on plants and bushes. There was always something that could be done in the yard if there was time to spare.

Yard work was my father's way of unwinding from the stresses of practicing medicine. It was a chance to be by himself for a while, and he enjoyed the release. Being in the ministry and the father of four, I now understand full well what an escape yard work can be. When I was young, however, I tried to be scarce when Dad was working in the yard. Of course, that was just the way he wanted it, until I was old enough to push a lawnmower.

We had a pretty large corner lot in a wooded neighborhood so we had lots of grass and lots of trees. For a while my dad had a pretty good system going. My brother and I would weed-eat and cut the grass while my dad would supervise. For one person it was an all day project, but with two it could be done on a Saturday morning leaving, the afternoon free.

After my brother went to college my dad changed his strategy. We got two lawnmowers and he and I could cut at the same time, thus reducing the time. This worked well for a few years, but, as I got older and involved in more activities, Dad ended up doing more and more of the work himself. Once again, a strategy change was necessary. After much deliberation my father made a monumental decision. The time had come to buy a riding lawnmower.

My dad's buying a riding lawnmower was like the Beatles making a disco album. I never thought he would bring himself to break down and get one. I think he thought it was lazy to ride while you cut grass. Whatever the case, Dad had made his mind up and there was no stopping him. It was time!

I went with him to Sears to pick out his new mower. I figured I might be using it some and I wanted to see what we were getting. He looked rather unimpressed with some of the larger tractor style mowers that I liked. I wanted "power," not maneuverability. Dad, however, wanted something that would be easier to handle around all our trees, so he picked a smaller, less tractor-looking mower. It was more like a seat on top of a motor with a steering wheel and blade underneath.

I was a little afraid of what the neighbors might say about our strange looking riding lawnmower as they cut their yards atop their lawn tractors. Frankly, ours looked a little sissy. Dad liked it though, and that was what was important. He would be the one they saw on it most of the time anyway. Maybe I could use it at night.

My next-door neighbor John Pegues (his dad had a lawn tractor) and I were playing in the yard a few days later when the Sears truck pulled into the driveway. We watched as they unloaded the strange looking little red machine. I heard the sarcasm in John's voice as he said, "That thing sure looks different than my dad's." "Yea, well, we got more trees than y'all do," I said in a desperate attempt to save face, but I knew he was right.

My dad excitedly filled it up with gas and cranked it up. It was loud, which made me feel a little better. I don't know what might have been said if it had been quiet on top of odd looking. Dad hopped on and began to ride around the yard. It did maneuver well, no question about it. He dropped the blade and began to cut a little to see how it looked. He was pleased with the beautiful strip of cut grass that stretched out behind him. In fact, he was so pleased with what was behind him he forgot to look ahead of him. He ran right into one of our loblolly pine trees. Quickly jarred back into reality, he tried to remember how to stop this machine he was riding. As Dad frantically tried to get the mower out of gear, the front end began to inch up the trunk of the tree. John stared wide eyed as my dad's riding lawnmower came close to vertical while hearing my dad curse loudly as he tried to stop the runaway machine.

When Dad finally stopped the mower and got it out of the tree, I puffed my chest up proudly and said to John, "I bet your dad's lawnmower won't do that". John never made fun of my dad's mower again. Dad used that mower for several years after that, but he never spent much time looking behind him; he kept his eyes on where he was headed.

Jesus had a little to say about looking where we have been. "No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for service in the kingdom of God." (Luke 9:62) In other words, our purpose as Christians should be in front of us. We can't do anything about what is behind, us whether it is good or bad. However, we have the power through Him to do something with the future.

Flee or Follow?

For nearly a decade I had the privilege of serving as Dean of Junior High Week as a church camp in Indiana. Bible classes, chapel services, and vespers were part of our daily routine. So was recreation. One of the most popular games the students played during this time was Capture the Flag. Groups of students were assigned territories and given colored armbands to identify their team. Each team received a flag and was instructed to place it in a protected area. Students on the opposing team were to sneak in and steal their opponents' flag without being caught. The students whose task was to capture the flag spent a great deal of time fleeing from their opponents. If you got caught trying to capture a flag, you wound up in 'prison.' On the other hand, a group that found and captured its opponents' flag spent a great deal of time following, make sure the captured flag – and the student who carried it – arrived safely in their home territory. Winning was a matter of knowing when to flee and when to follow. Paul wanted Timothy to know when to flee and when to follow. Being a Christian and a leader required that Timothy turn away from greed and personal gain and pursue a life marked by godly characteristics. He was to live a life controlled by the Spirit.

Is something in your life keeping you from following Jesus. If so, identify it and pursue the qualities that lead to faithfulness and obedience. – S.M.

STATE OF ALABAMA COUNTY OF COFFEE

NOTICE is hereby given that a bill substantially as follows will be introduced in the 2023 Regular Session of the Legislature of Alabama and application for its passage and enactment will be made:

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT

Relating to Coffee and Pike Counties and the Twelfth Judicial Circuit; to amend Section 45-16-82.27, Code of Alabama 1975, to further provide for fees related to the pretrial diversion program; and to make nonsubstantive, technical revisions to update the existing code language to current style.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. Section 45-16-82.27, Code of Alabama 1975, is amended to read as follows:

"§45-16-82.27

(a) An applicant may be assessed a fee when the applicant is approved for the program. The amount of the assessment for participation in the program shall be in addition to any court costs and assessments for victims or drug, alcohol, or anger management treatment required by law, the district attorney, or the court, and are in addition to costs of supervision, treatment, and restitution for which the pretrial diversion admittee may be responsible. Pretrial diversion program fees as established by this subpart may be waived or reduced due to indigency or reduced ability to pay or for other just cause at the discretion of the district attorney. The determination of indigency of the offender, for the purpose of pretrial diversion admission, fee waiver, or reduction, shall be made by the district attorney. A schedule of payments for any of these fees may be established by the district attorney.

(b) The following fees shall be paid by applicants accepted into the pretrial diversion program:

- (1) Felony offenses: Up to two thousand dollars ($2,000).
- (2) Driving Under the Influence offenses: Up to two thousand one hundred dollars ($2,100).
- (3) Misdemeanor offenses, excluding traffic: Up to one thousand dollars ($1,000).
- (4) Traffic offenses: Up to four hundred fifty dollars ($450).
- (5) Violations: Up to three hundred fifty dollars ($350).

(c) In cases where the applicant is not indigent, as determined by the district attorney, in felony cases, fifty dollars ($50) of the fee, and in misdemeanor and violation cases, twenty-five dollars ($25) of the fee, for each applicant accepted into the pretrial diversion program, shall be allocated to the Coffee County Circuit Clerk's Office, for offenses filed in Coffee County, and to the Pike County Circuit Clerk's Office, for offenses filed in Pike County. Money allocated to a circuit clerk pursuant to this subsection shall be available for use, at the clerk's discretion, to support the clerk's office operation. These uses may include, but are not limited to, hiring employees, buying needed equipment and supplies, or providing training opportunities.

(d) In cases where the applicant is not indigent, as determined by the district attorney, in felony cases, fifty dollars ($50) of the fee, and in misdemeanor and violation cases, twenty-five dollars ($25) of the fee, for each applicant accepted into the pretrial diversion program, shall be allocated to the Coffee County General Fund for offenses filed in Coffee County or to the Pike County General Fund for offenses filed in Pike County.

(e) In cases where the applicant is not indigent, as determined by the district attorney, in felony cases, fifty dollars ($50) of the fee, and in misdemeanor and violation cases twenty-five dollars ($25) of the fee, for each applicant accepted into the pretrial diversion program, shall be allocated to the arresting or ticketing law enforcement agency making the case. Those fees may be used at the agency's discretion to support its operations. These uses may include, but are not limited to, hiring employees, buying needed equipment and supplies, providing training opportunities, or any other lawful purpose.

(f) Except as herein specifically allocated, the district attorney may use fees collected by the pretrial diversion program to fund the pretrial diversion program; for the prosecution of state criminal cases; to help support local and state law enforcement and coroners; for education programs which relate to the prosecution of, detection of, or prevention of crime; or, to benefit any agency or department of state, city, or county government which assists local law enforcement. This support shall be provided to help employ more prosecutors, law enforcement officers, investigators, or staff, buy needed equipment or supplies, provide training opportunities, or for any other prosecutorial or law enforcement purpose.

(g) Except for court costs, which are payable by the applicant directly to the clerk of court, fees required by this subpart shall be collected by the office of the District Attorney of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit in the county and division in which the offense was filed. Those fees collected shall be deposited by the district attorney into the Pretrial Diversion Fund as described in Section 45-16-82.30. The district attorney shall timely make disbursement as provided in this subpart.

(h) The district attorney shall be allowed without further legislative action to raise fees to meet and equal those prescribed by the Alabama Legislature in the event a state pretrial diversion program is enacted after the passage of this subpart. Any state pretrial diversion program may supersede this subpart, but may be construed to require further and additional penalties."

Section 2. This act shall become effective on the first day of the third month following its passage and approval by the Governor, or its otherwise becoming law.

Avery Padgett, Taylor Renfro, and Ethan Young show off the five fish that help vault the ZCBT to a fourth place finish in the Saturday, April 1, tournament on Lay Lake.

Team Padgett/Young finishes fourth at recent tournament on Lay Lake

Before reporting on the most recent Zion Chapel High School Bass Trail Bass Team tournament, it seems more important that this team be congratulated from an academic standpoint.

On Friday, April 7, the administration of Zion Chapel High School recognized the Class of 2023 Scholar Graduates, Academic Top 10, Salutatorian, and Valedictorian. Avery Padgett was recognized among the Top 10 Academic and Scholar Graduates, and Ethan Young was recognized among the Top 24 scholar graduates. This speaks volumes about these two young men as they have been able to maintain excellent grades in the classroom while competing as young anglers.

Well, the ZCBT faced another weather delay Saturday, April 1. Although it was April 1, it was not an April Fool's joke, according to the anglers. Back-to-back tournaments have been plagued with First Alert Weather issues.

Practice day, Friday, March 31, was very windy, and the wind continued during the night along with heavy rains which created the blastoff delay. However, the safety of the anglers is always more important than an early blastoff.

Lay Lake, Clanton, Ala., was the site of this tournament on the East Alabama High School Bass Trail. According to Avery Padgett, it was not the finish he and Ethan Young were hoping for after their windy but successful practice day, but they chalked up another top five finish. They came in fourth place with 13.17 pounds.

The team was appreciative of Taylor Renfro's riding out the storm and going with them as their captain. Padgett said it had been a great year, and they hope to keep the train rolling into the State and National Championships this summer.

The ZCBT is currently seeking donations to help defray their expenses for the State and National Championship tournaments. Several people have contributed already, and they are thankful for the support and encouragement they have received during their four years of tournament fishing. If anyone would like to donate, the coach, Dana Haley, may be contacted at 334-406-0498 or Larry Campbell, assistant coach, may be contacted at 334-465-9847.

The ZCBT will be fishing their final tournament on the Alabama BASS Nation Tiger Division Trail May 6, 2023, on the Tensaw River/Delta, Stockton Alabama.
